

green globetrotter

March 18, 2009

<http://greenglobetrotter.blogspot.com/>

wednesday, march 18, 2009

Green Giveaway: Die Trying Book

An adventurer exposed. That's the quintessential theme of Bo Parfet's debut book, Die Trying, which tells the tale of his climb to the Seven Summits of each continent.

A former 26-year old Wall Street investment banker, Bo offers an inspiring tale that takes him from across the globe, to Denali in North America, Aconcagua in South America, Kilimanjaro in Africa, Elbrus in Europe, both Kosciuszko and Carstensz Pyramid in Australasia, Vinson Massif in Antarctica, and the tallest peak on Earth, Asia's Mount Everest.

Intriguing and raw, highlights include both the highs and lows of life-defying travel. Think: avalanches dodged, crevasses crossed, border starvation and even the death of a fellow team mate. It's certainly not all doom and gloom, however; Bo's story revolves around the fierce determination that boils in the underbelly of the truest thrill-seeker. If anything, it's a read that will lift you off the couch and instill a renewed passion for exploration - extreme or otherwise.

We're giving away three copies of Bo's new book (MSRP: $23) to randomly chosen entrants. To enter, please fill out the form below. One entry per person, per day allowed. US residents only. Contest runs from March 18, 2009 - March 20, 2009. Winner chosen at random. Know that we will never share or use your e-mail for any reason other than to contact winning participants.